Echelon Analytics Celebrates Its Tenth Year

DALLAS — Echelon Analytics unveiled a new logo in celebration of its tenth year of providing insightful analyses, compelling thought leadership, and credible expert testimony to an impressive portfolio of the country's top law firms and their clients. Over the past decade, Echelon has been retained on hundreds of litigation matters by more than a hundred different law firms.

Commenting on this milestone, Managing Director Barry Bell stated, "We sincerely appreciate the confidence our clients continue to demonstrate by retaining us in high-stakes complex commercial litigation matters. Our success over the last ten years affirms our initial assessment that we could offer the same high-caliber, impactful economic and financial analyses and expert testimony from a more client-focused and efficient platform than our previous large firms offered. We are especially honored by the many firms that have retained us on multiple matters. With gratitude for our first decade, we are excited to embark on the next chapter."
